

DR. CHRIS MULRONEY – GP
Mental Health/Psychiatry

Dr Mulroney obtained a first class Honours degree in Science Pathology from the University of Western Australia before pursuing a career in Medicine. Subsequently, he has practiced for over twenty-five years as a Family Physician, lecturer and medical educator. Throughout this time, he has been an innovator and progressive thinker in the design and facilitation of Modern General Practice.

Chris currently practices at Toorak Medical Centre Melbourne Australia after spending many professional years in Perth, Western Australia.

His professional interests now include Psychiatry in Primary Care with an emphasis on adult attentional disorders and their associated co-morbidities. Since 2001, Chris has assisted co-developing the Global Mind Screen, a dynamic interactive software-screening tool for assisting in psychiatric diagnosis. On arriving in Melbourne, Victoria he has been a catalyst for the introduction of functional brain imaging [SPECT].
